2005-03-10 D. S. Mills Humans have had a profound influence on the horse since its domestication in the late Neolithic period. Used for transport, labour, food and recreation, horses have become important in many facets of our society. Daniel Mills and Sue McDonnell have produced an exceptional account of our current knowledge of the development and management of the behaviour of the horse, from its wild roots. The Domestic Horse, first published in 2005, brings together, for the first time, an unrivalled collection of international scientific authors to write on the latest findings concerning the behaviour and welfare of this beautiful animal. Illustrated throughout, The Domestic Horse will appeal to animal scientists, those working with horses in a professional capacity and the owner/enthusiast. It also provides sound complementary reading for animal/equine science courses and veterinary students.

2021-02-16 Fran McNicol The journey to barefoot horses and sustainable fields.*How and why horses benefit from going barefoot.*Feeding the barefoot horse.*Re-wilding your fields to grow food for your barefoot horse.*How to pasture the barefoot horse.Bare Hooves and Open Hearts: Tales from Nelipot Cottage is the author's story of her journey from horse-mad child, to goal-orientated doctor training horses for competition, to listening to her horses and learning from them about life and love.We have high standards that govern how we keep animals in zoos. We legislate to ensure they have space, suitable food, and social interaction with their own kind. Yet somehow we do not apply the same minimum welfare standards to our domestic animals. Leisure horses undoubtedly suffer in human care. They demonstrate stereotypical behaviours, like weaving and crib-biting, associated with confinement and stress. The supplement market is awash with calming powders and digestive health remedies. Equine vets are busy investigating mystery lameness and treating sports horses for gastric ulcers. What if we could keep our beloved horses in a way that is governed by their needs, rather than our convenience? What if we could offer horses a life that fulfils their needs for friends, forage, and freedom, as well as our goals and desires? This seems a fair exchange in return for allowing us to share their grace and beauty. A healthy, happy, and sound horse would be a partner in a dream come true. Fran McNicol bought her first horse at the age of 32. She was a surgical trainee, with a good salary, and an aspiration to compete in amateur one-day eventing. Paddy was a dark bay, almost black, a good jumper and an elegant mover, with a troubled past. He didn't know what apples or carrots were for, didn't much like cuddles, and was generally suspicious of humans. And he hated the whole process of being shod. She tried to work with him because after all, horses need shoes to be ridden?don't they?

Le Sahara est le plus grand désert du monde, d'une superficie de près de 8 millions de km². Il s'étend sur 10 pays de l'océan Atlantique jusqu'à la vallée du Nil : le Maroc, la Mauritanie, le Mali, l'Algérie, le Niger, la Libye, le Tchad, la Tunisie, l'Égypte et le Soudan. Les grands massifs de dune ou ergs font partie des plus beaux paysages du monde. Mais le Sahara est bien plus varié qu'on ne l'imagine : avec des massifs montagneux et volcaniques (le Mont Tahat en Algérie qui culmine à 2 918 mètres, l'Emi Koussi au Tchad à 3 415 mètres), des oasis nombreuses ou secrètes, des tassilis (ces labyrinthes de grès érodés par les sables) qui abritent un patrimoine rupestre exceptionnel.

2010 Dominique Amouroux Saint-Malo, le quartier du Marais et la passerelle des Arts à Paris, l'usine marémotrice de la Rance, l'église Sainte-Jeanne-d'Arc à Rouen ont en commun une seule et même signature : celle de Louis Arretche (1905-1991). Premier ouvrage jamais publié sur son oeuvre, cette monographie convie à la découverte d'un architecte prolifique, impliqué dans tous les grands chantiers de la seconde moitié du XXe siècle : la reconstruction, la rénovation et l'extension des villes, l'édification des campus, les infrastructures électroniques, la société des loisirs, le renforcement des équipements urbains. C'est depuis Paris, où il enseignait, qu'il exerça pleinement son influence d'architecte et d'urbaniste dans de nombreuses régions françaises, dont la Bretagne. La collection "Carnets d'architectes" devrait s'imposer par sa ligne graphique et la qualité de son contenu : - l'oeuvre d'un classique du 20e siècle est restituée grâce à une iconographie abondante ; - le texte, informatif, va directement à l'essentiel ; - la mise en page est claire, immédiatement lisible.
